CITY OF NEW YORK.

ITS LOCATION AND TOPOGRAPHY.

NEW YORK, the chief city of the United States and the Western Continent, is located at the mouth of the Hudson River, in the southern part of the State of New York. The City Hall is in latitude $40^{\circ}42'43''$ N., longitude $74^{\circ}0'3''$ W., and the city occupies the county of the same name. It covers the whole of Manhattan Island and a portion of the mainland, and is bounded on the south by New York Bay; on the west by the Hudson or North River; on the north by the city of Yonkers and Westchester County, N. Y.; on the east by the river Bronx, that separates it from Westchester County, and the East River, a narrow, salt-water strait, dividing it from Long Island. It also includes Randall's, Ward's and Blackwell's Islands, in the East River; and Governor's Island, occupied by the U. S. Government; Bedloe's and Ellis' Islands, in the Bay. Spuyten Duyvil Creek and Harlem River divide the city into two unequal portions, and make the northern boundary of Manhattan Island. The city is 16 miles long, and varies in width from a few hundred yards to $4\frac{1}{4}$ miles at the north part. Its area is about $41\frac{1}{2}$ square miles, or 26,500 acres, of which 12,100 are on the mainland. Its location is both beautiful, healthful, and advantageous in a commercial sense. Its commodious bay, the Hudson River, the neighboring sea, and the diversified country about it, contribute to its attractiveness, while its varied surface and extensive water front conduce to its general healthfulness. Its harbor gives ample and safe anchorage for large fleets, and opens directly upon the Atlantic. Its position in the center of the northern part of the coast makes it a natural entrépot for the Middle States; and the Hudson River, navigable for nearly 150 miles, places it in easy communication with the interior. The Erie Canal and several lines of railroads place the city in reach of the Great West, and on the east, New England almost joins the city. The State and city of New Jersey fringe the opposite bank of the Hudson, and along the East River the City of Brooklyn and its neighboring towns form a continuous city upon its eastern side. From the Battery, at the southern end of Manhattan Island, the view of the Bay, the Islands,

CITY HALL.

Brooklyn Heights, Staten Island, the Jersey shore, Jersey City, and the entrance to the Hudson, presents one of the most animated and beautiful pictures to be found. The upper part of the city lies opposite the Palisades, and is remarkable for its rural and picturesque scenery. Its topography is at once favorable for business purposes and good drainage. The lower part of Manhattan Island, from the Battery north for about $3\frac{1}{2}$ miles, is rolling and sandy in character. It then rises slightly and becomes very rocky. At Central Park, near the center of the city, it rises into broken hills; and northward, along the river, the land rises to a height of 238 feet at Washington Heights. Above the Island, the land is hilly and rough, with a great variety of scenery. The lower part of the city has been much altered by filling and grading, and the original width has been materially increased by filling in the rivers on both sides. The city is compactly built up to the Harlem River, on the east of Central Park. This location is sometimes known as Harlem and Yorkville, being the sites of those villages. North of Harlem River are Mott Haven, Morrisania, West Farms, North New York, Port Morris, Woodstock, Highbridgeville, Claremont, Tremont, Mount Hope, Mount Eden, Fairmount, Belmont, Fordham, and Williamsbridge. West of Central Park the population centers in the villages of Bloomingdale and Manhattanville. North of these, along the Hudson, are Washington Heights, Inwood, Kingsbridge, Spuyten Duyvil, Mosholu, Riverdale, and Mount St. Vincent. All of these places are now included in New York City.

THE WAYS OF APPROACH

to New York are numerous, since it is in communication with all parts of the globe, either by sea or railroad. From the sea it is approached from the south by Sandy Hook through the Narrows, between Long Island on the east, and Staten Island on the west, into New York Bay, passing the great fortresses of Fort Tompkins and Fort Richmond on the west, or Staten Island shore and Fort Hamilton on the east, or Long Island shore, while old Fort Lafayette, of the "Great Rebellion" celebrity, stands in the bay, a short distance from the shore. At the confluence of the East and Hudson Rivers is Governor's Island, distinguished by the circular fortress on its northern shore. The Hamburg and German lines of steamers land their passengers at Hoboken; while the Cunard, Inman, White Star, Anchor, National and French lines discharge theirs at different piers on the Hudson River, or west side of the city. There is another channel of approach from the sea through the Kills, between Staten Island, on the New Jersey shore, connecting Raritan Bay with New York Harbor—but only vessels of light draught can approach by this route.

Steamers and vessels approaching from Long Island Sound pass through Hell Gate and discharge cargoes on both the East River and North River piers. The Hartford, New Haven, Bridgeport, and other steamboats from nearer ports, land at East River piers—at Peek slip and vicinity; while the Fall River, Stonington, Providence, Norwich and New London, and Boston outside lines, pass round the Battery and discharge at North or Hudson River piers. The Hudson River steamboats all discharge on the west, or North River side of the city. Passengers via New York and New Haven, Harlem, New York Central and Hudson River Railroads, are dropped at the Grand Central Depot, East 42d street and Fourth avenue. All railroad passengers from Boston and the East are landed at Grand Central Depot. The Pennsylvania Railroad lands its passengers by ferry-boat, from Jersey City, at Cortland street and Desbrosses street. The N. Y. West Shore and Buffalo at W. 39th street, and at Cortland and Desbrosses streets; and the N. Y., Susquehanna and Western at Chambers street and W. 23d street. The Erie Railroad and Northern New Jersey by ferry to Chambers street and West 23d street. Central New Jersey by ferry to Liberty street. Delaware, Lackawanna and Western by ferry to Barclay and Christopher streets. Staten Island by ferry to Whitehall, and Long Island by ferry to Roosevelt and E. 34th streets.

HISTORICAL SKETCH.

Jean Verrazani, a Florentine navigator, entered the Bay of New York in 1525, but, his explorations being interrupted by a sudden storm, put to sea without making a permanent settlement.

Manhattan Island was first visited by Europeans in September, 1609, when Henry Hudson, in his yacht, "The Half Moon," entered the bay and sailed up the river. The information he carried back to Holland led to repeated visits by Dutch traders, and in 1624 a formal settlement was made. In 1626, under Peter Minnet, Fort Amsterdam was built, and the entire island was purchased of the Indians for $24, paid in goods. In 1664 the place was taken under English control, and the name was changed from New Amsterdam to New York. In 1673 it was retaken by the Dutch, but their occupancy was short, and it soon reverted to the English. From 1674 it began to grow rapidly, and at the time of the Revolution was a city of 23,000 inhabitants. In the Revolution it took an early and active part till captured by the British in 1776. It was occupied by them till 1783, when it was finally evacuated at the close of the war. From 1785 to 1790 New York was the seat of Government of the United States, President Washington having been inaugurated in the old City Hall, then located at the corner of Nassau and Wall streets. The free school system was founded in 1805, and in 1807 the Hudson was first navigated with steamboats by Robert Fulton. The present system of streets was, north of Houston street, planned in 1821, and the survey occupied ten years. The first steam ferry was opened in 1814, and in 1817 the first line of packets sailed for Liverpool. Gas was introduced in 1825, and the Croton water in 1842. Several great fires have impeded the growth of the city, but it has continually advanced northward.

The original charter of the city of New York was granted by James II., of England, in 1686. Another was granted by George II., in 1730. This charter was of the most liberal character, and made New York practically a free city, and was the law till 1829, when a new charter was made by the people. This charter, with its various amendments, formed the basis of the present law of the city. The following table illustrates the growth of the city in population:

STREET SYSTEM.

Like all of our older cities, New York at first spread its streets and avenues in any direction that seemed at the time most convenient. The original settlers had no conception of the ultimate destiny of their town, and they built their stores and houses wherever they pleased and with little regard to the street traffic. The result was that the lower and older part of the city, south of Houston street, became occupied in no particular order, and to-day is more or less irregular. The first streets were laid out at right angles with the water fronts, and as these were not parallel the streets did not meet at right angles. North of Houston street the city is laid out on an admirable plan that is at once simple, convenient and easily understood. Manhattan Island being long and narrow, readily conformed to the

CITY OF NEW YORK.

American plan of streets at right angles. North and south the larger axis of the Island are the twelve great avenues that extend its entire length. In addition to these are a number of shorter avenues that extend part of the way each. These avenues are numbered and lettered from east to west. The most easterly of the long avenues is Avenue A. East of this, however, are three shorter avenues called B, C, and D, and named from west to east. The other avenues are numbered from the east. First avenue is next west of Avenue A; Second is next west of this; Third, Fourth, Fifth, Sixth, Seventh, Eighth, Ninth, Tenth and Eleventh follow in regular order till Twelfth is reached at the water side on the west. Besides these are two shorter avenues—Madison, between Fourth and Fifth, and Lexington, between Third and Fourth. These avenues are parallel and are wide streets.

Extending northward from the Battery to Central Park is Broadway, the great thoroughfare of the city. It passes through the center of the lower part of the city, in a straight line to Tenth street, and then crossing the avenues diagonally it continues in a north-west direction till it joins Eighth avenue at 59th street. Beyond this point it follows the line of the old Bloomingdale road, and assumes the name of the Boulevard. The streets crossing the Island and the avenues above Houston street are numbered from First street northward. One street in ten is made of double width, and twenty of the blocks between these streets average a mile. Fifth avenue, in the center of the island, divides each of these cross-streets into two parts known as East and West, as East 14th street, West 51st street, etc. In marking the streets numerals are used, numbering from Fifth avenue each way east and west, as East 19, West 45, etc. The avenues are marked Second ave., Fourth ave., Avenue D, etc., and these numerals and names may be found on the street lamps on the corners. Hence it is easy to understand the street system, and the stranger is able to find any required locality quickly and readily. The numbering of the stores and houses is equally simple. On the avenues the numbers are continuous from south to north. On the cross-streets the numbers extend west on streets west of Fifth avenue, and east on the other side. The numbers begin at Fifth avenue at No. 1, and go to Sixth avenue. Here a break is made, and the numbers begin at 100. At Seventh avenue the numbers begin at 200. At Eighth avenue the numbers begin at 300, and so on. Going east the numbers begin at 1 next

CITY OF NEW YORK.

Fifth avenue, 100 at Fourth avenue and so on, the odd numbers being on the north side and the even numbers on the south of the cross-streets. For instance, 326 West 57th street is on the south side of West 57th street, between Eighth and Ninth avenues. No. 141 East 21st street is on the north side of the street, between Fourth and Third avenues. There is one exception, W. 11th street, in which the numbers begin at Broadway to go west, and at Fourth avenue to go east. Central Park, extending from 59th street to 110th street, and from Fifth avenue to Eighth avenue, makes a blank in this street plan, so that nearly all the streets between these and Sixth and Seventh avenues are cut in two. 65th, 79th, 85th and 97th streets, however, cross under the Park, and ample roads continue the avenues north and south. These great avenues are almost wholly devoted to business, and above First street most cross-streets are occupied by dwelling-houses. This makes the streets quiet and agreeable, and at the same time places all the stores within easy reach. Below 14th street all the streets are invaded by business, and below Houston street warehouses and manufactories claim very nearly all of the space. To get a good idea of the character of New York City it is best to walk or ride through the great avenues. All the public buildings, churches, stores and institutions are on the avenues, or so near them as to be easily found, and to see them all, each avenue may be taken in turn, beginning with the most important.

BROADWAY.

This great thoroughfare begins at the crescent-shaped Park known as the Battery.

This was the site of old Fort George, and is now merely a water-side Park and the emigrant landing station. The round building on the west side was a round fort known as Castle Clinton. It was given up to the city in 1823, and was afterwards converted into an opera house, where Jenny Lind first sang in this country, and finally became the landing-place or reception-room for the emigrants arriving at the port. Here the new comers are properly cared for on arrival and are dispatched on their various journeys over the country. The view from the Battery over the Bay is one of great beauty and animation, and the Park is well worth a brief visit. West of Castle Garden is Pier 1 and the large iron building used as the waiting-rooms of the

CITY OF NEW YORK.

Iron Steamboat Co., whose boats run to the Iron Pier, Coney Island. East of the Garden will be seen the granite Barge Office of the Custom House. Near by are the Staten Island and South ferries and the terminal station of the elevated roads, where trains may be taken for all the four principal lines. The buildings near the Battery are of the older types. All are occupied as warehouses or hotels, and some were celebrated places in revolutionary times. As we emerge from Whitehall street to Broadway, passing the new Kemble Building, we reach the magnificent brick structure of the Produce Exchange, reaching from Stone to Beaver streets. It fronts 307 feet on Broadway and Whitehall streets; has a tower 225 feet high, with a clock whose face is 12 feet in diameter, and the main room is 220 by 145 feet. Just beyond is the Welles Building and Petroleum Exchange. Broadway begins at the north-eastern corner of the Battery, opposite the circle known as

CITY OF NEW YORK.

Bowling Green.

Here once stood a leaden statue of George III., but it was happily made into good bullets for Continental muskets in 1776. The place is now neatly planted with trees and shrubbery. Opposite the Produce Exchange stands the nine-story Washington Building, erected by Mr. Cyrus W. Field on the site of the old Washington Hotel, once the headquarters of Gen. Washington, and before him of Gens. Gage and Cornwallis. Now they are devoted to steamship agencies and express offices. There is a slight rise in the roadway, and at the top of the hill stands

Trinity Church.

This noble church, standing opposite the head of Wall street, was erected in 1846. It is 80x146 feet and 60 feet high. The tower is 284 feet high, and visitors are allowed to ascend it and enjoy the fine view from the spire. The building is open to the public every day and is well worth a visit. The altar and reredos were erected as a memorial to the late Wm. B. Astor, by his sons. Trinity Church yard adjoins the church, and is interesting on account of its monuments, notable among which are those of Alexander Hamilton, of Capt. Lawrence, and the "martyrs' monument" in the north-east corner, commemorating the "Patriotic Americans who died during the Revolution in British prisons." Turning for a moment from Broadway we pass the splendid brick and stone building of the First National Bank, often jocularly called "Fort Sherman," and enter famous for its bankers' and brokers' offices, its "bulls and bears," and the center of a cluster of streets, Broad, New, Exchange Place, Pine, Nassau and William, often spoken of genially as "the street." A few minutes' stay in the gallery of the Stock Exchange is well worth while. The visitors' entrance is on Wall street. Opposite is the old Sub-Treasury, containing millions of gold and silver in huge vaults, and furnished with steel window shutters and other defenses. It extends to Pine street, 200 feet. On its steps was unveiled on Nov. 25, 1883—the centennial anniversary of the evacuation of New York by the British—Mr. J. Q. A. Ward's fine statue of Washington taking the oath as first President. The statue stands on the very spot once in Federal Hall. Notice to the right, in Broad street, the imposing office of Drexel, Morgan & Co., and the superb Mills Building, with its ten stories of offices occupied by brokers and lawyers. To the left, in Nassau street, is the new Mutual Life Insurance Co.'s building, completed in 1884, reaching from Cedar to Liberty street; probably the most costly and elegant building devoted to commercial purposes in the city. On the corner of Wall and William streets is the Custom House, once the Merchants' Exchange, a huge and ugly pile of granite 200 feet long, with 18 granite columns 38 feet high and $4\frac{1}{2}$ feet in diameter. Hanover square and the new Cotton Exchange are close by. On we find that above Trinity Church the old stores give place to the immense structures of modern times. The Trinity Building, with the elegant Boreel Building just north, the Guernsey Building, the Equitable Life Insurance Building, of Doric and Renaissance architecture, on the corner of Cedar street, from the roof of which a superb view may be obtained, the Mutual Life Insurance Co.'s old building, on the corner of Liberty street, the gigantic palace, in composite style, of the Western Union Telegraph Company, on the corner of Dey street, the Evening Post Building, on the corner of Fulton street, and many others here unite to present a sight unequalled in the world. Nowhere in the world can so many lofty and expensive buildings be found clustered in so small a space. Down Fulton street a constant tide of travel flows to the Fulton Ferry, near which the dilapidated wooden buildings familiar to old citizens as Fulton Market, have been of late years replaced by substantial brick structures. By following Fulton street to the west of Broadway the visitor may reach Washington Market, bounded by Fulton, West, Washington and Vesey streets. Early in the morning is an excellent time to see this great food mart at its best.

St. Paul's Chapel,

between Fulton and Vesey streets, was built in 1766, and is 51x151 feet, with a spire 203 feet high. Several monuments and inscriptions of historical interest are to be seen in the yard, beside the church. Opposite is the elegant white marble building of the Park Bank. Adjoining it is the New York Herald building, on the corner of Ann street. Next, north of St. Paul's, between Vesey and Barclay streets, stands in the triangular end of the old City Hall Park, at junction of Broadway and Park Row, and is not only a substantial and elegant structure of Doric and Renaissance architecture, with domes patterned after those of the Louvre, of Paris, but the largest public building in the city. Its dimensions are 144 feet front on the south, 279 feet on the Park, and 262½ feet on both the Broadway side and Park Row side. Its cost was nearly $7,000,000, and was first occupied in September, 1877. The U. S. Government Supreme, Circuit and District Court rooms are in the upper part of the building. Park Row, the wide and exceedingly busy street that opens to the right, is mainly devoted to newspapers, and makes the terminus of a number of horse railroads. The scene here in the middle of the day is past description.

CITY OF NEW YORK.

The enormous traffic, the crowds on the walks, the frantic haste that seems to possess every animated thing, the variety of men and teams, and the general uproar and confusion, make a picture as peculiar as it is original. Here is a bit of New York intensified, a type of the whole country, and a thoroughly American scene. Passing the Post Office, we come to

City Hall Park.

This was the first park laid out in the city. It formerly covered about 10 acres, bounded on the east by Park Row and Centre street, by Chambers street on the north, and by Broadway on the west. It contains the City Hall, the new Court House, the Hall of Records, and other public offices.

The City Hall.

This building faces the south, and is a good sample of public building in the Italian style. It is 216x105 feet, and 65 feet high, surmounted by a tower. The city government holds its meetings here, and here are the rooms of the chief public servants. In the Governor's Room are preserved a number of relics of the Revolution of some historical value, and well worth a short visit. In the rear of the City Hall is

The New Court House.

This building was begun in 1861, and was first occupied in 1867. It was made notorious in connection with the Tweed frauds on the city. It is occupied in part by various courts, and makes one of the most costly and sumptuous structures of the kind in the country. It is 250x150 feet, and is to be surmounted by a dome 170 feet high. Other public buildings devoted to the city service stand near. The neighborhood of the park is rich in fine stores and offices. Just east of the park is the site of the old Brick Church, built in 1767. It was used as a jail by the British during the Revolution, and finally was turned into a hospital. The site is now occupied by the New York Times building. Just here, on what is called Printing House Square, stands a fine bronze statue of Franklin. The immense structure, with a lofty tower, is the Tribune building. It is built of brick, stone and iron, in composite style, and is surmounted with a tower 85 feet in height. The building is fire-proof, and is the highest in New York. With its recent additions, it surrounds the Sun building on the east and south. At the corner of Nassau and Beekman, close by, are the huge Kelly and Morse Buildings—the former known as Temple Court.

CITY OF NEW YORK.

Here, also, is the new Potter Building, another mammoth pile of offices, erected in 1884 on the site of that burnt by the fatal fire of 1882. At the north end of the Square, at the junction of Chatham street and Centre street, is the handsome granite building of the Staats Zeitung, with statues of Franklin and Guttenburg above its portal.

STAATS ZEITUNG, CHATHAM STREET AND CENTRE STREET.

Not far away, at Centre and Leonard streets, stands the "Tombs," a fine but oppressive example of Egyptian architecture, the most important of the city prisons.

THE BROOKLYN BRIDGE.

On the east of City Hall Park, close by the terminal station of the City Hall branch of the elevated road, will be seen the imposing entrance to the magnificent Bridge across the East River, between New York and Brooklyn, which, with its stupendous towers and cables, and the graceful curve of its roadway, illuminated at night by a brilliant arc of electric lights, forms the most striking landmark as the visitor approaches the city, and is one of the first and most important objects to be visited. The necessity of such a structure is apparent when it is realized that not far from 100,000,000 persons pass annually from one city to the other. The first plans were drawn in 1865. Two years later Mr. John A. Roebling was appointed engineer, and in 1869 preliminary surveys were made. His death in 1870 left the work in chief charge of his son, Washington A. Roebling. Actual work was begun on January 3, 1870. The first wire rope was thrown across on August 14, 1876, and on August 26 the master-mechanic, Mr. E. F. Farrington, made, in a "boatswain's chair," the first trip between the towers. The bridge was formally opened on May 24, 1883, with impressive ceremonies. President Arthur and many distinguished officials were present. In behalf of the trustees Mr. W. C. Kingsley presented the structure to the mayors of the two cities. Six days later (on Decoration Day, May 30, 1883) occurred the terrible panic in which twelve persons were crushed to death at the stairs on the New York approach, and many more were seriously injured. The cars, drawn by an endless cable, propelled by stationary engines on the Brooklyn side, to which they are attached, and from which they are detached by a traction grip invented by Col. Paine, were set in motion some weeks later. Fare, 5 cents; foot passengers, 1 cent. By all means walk one way, if the weather is fair. The elevation is gradual, and the view a thing to be remembered.

As we enter we notice that the width of the bridge (85 feet in all) is divided into five parts—one on each side for vehicles, the two adjoining occupied by the railway, and in the center a broad promenade 13 feet wide, raised above the other lines of travel. The total length is 5,989 feet; central span, 1,595 feet; from towers to anchorages, 930 feet each; New York approach, 1,562½ feet; Brooklyn approach, 971 feet. The center of the span is 135 feet above high water. The 4 cables are 15¾ inches in diameter, each containing 5,434 wires, and each will hold 12,000 tons. There are 1,176 suspenders, each capable of upholding 70 tons. The two great towers (through the tops of which the cables pass on "saddles," thence to the anchorages built in solid masonry about the cables, which end in 23-ton anchor-plates buried in the ground) are 271½ feet from high-water mark to summit; 159 feet from bridge roadway to summit. Including foundations, the New York tower is 350 feet in height from base to summit; Brooklyn tower, 316 feet. There are 46,945 cubic yards of masonry in the first; 38,214 in the second. At high-water mark the towers measure 140x159 feet; at the top, 136x53. The towers rest on caissons, the sinking of which was one of the most difficult and dangerous parts of the work. Platforms, where the roadway passes under the tower-arches, form agreeable places for rest, and give a splendid view, especially of lower New York and Brooklyn, the Bay, the Narrows, Staten Island, etc., etc. The Brooklyn terminus is at Sands street, near Fulton, whence cars may be taken in all directions.

The total cost of the bridge was, in round numbers, $15,000,000, of which two-thirds is assumed by Brooklyn, one-third by New York.

Broadway, Continued.

North of the park, on the east corner of Chambers street and Broadway, is what was once the A. T. Stewart wholesale store, now improved by the addition of a story, and devoted to stores and offices. On the corner of Broadway and Warren street is one of the great stores of Devlin & Co. All the stores and other buildings here are of the largest size, and of most substantial construction, and the journey continued up Broadway opens a long and wonderful series of business palaces. The view up the street from this point gives one a good idea of the extent of the city, and forms a good picture of its busy life. Grace Church ends the long vista, while lines of omnibuses and the vast crowds of people give animation and life to the wonderful scene. At the corner of Leonard street may be seen the beautiful marble building of the New York Life Insurance Company, in the Ionic style. Three magnificent business buildings occupy three of the corners of Broadway and Grand street. The Grand street line of horse-cars crosses Broadway here, connecting Grand street ferry, on the East River, and Desbrosses street ferry, on the North River. The Metropolitan Hotel, on the east side, on the corner of Prince street, is one of the first of the great hotels of the city. Niblo's Garden Theatre is in the same building.

Rogers, Peet & Co.'s clothing store, on the corner of Prince street, and the Grand Central Hotel, on the west side, between Bleecker and W. 3d streets, are both notable buildings. The American Watch Co.'s building in Bond street, near Broadway, is worthy of attention. At Waverley Place we find the New York Hotel, one of the oldest and best. Just opposite is Harrigan & Hart's Theatre Comique. The retail trade here fills all the stores, and the character of the crowds on the walks changes rapidly. The book stores increase in number and the shop windows begin to make displays of marvelous attractiveness. What was once the famous A. T. Stewart & Co.'s immense iron store, occupying the entire square on the east side of Broadway between 9th and 10th streets, makes a most imposing show. It is now occupied by Sylvester, Hilton & Co., and E. J. Denning & Co. Rival stores spread their varied charms on every side and throngs of shoppers fill the sidewalks. This is the beginning of the retail trade and the grand entrance to the court end of the town. Some of the most famous institutions, libraries, theaters and places of resort are in this neighborhood, and the dwellings of the people begin to fill the cross-streets. Grace Church, built in 1845, and a fine specimen of church architecture, stands near the corner of 10th street, and makes a fit ending to this part of the Broadway vista. The views both up and down the great avenue are fine. From this corner Broadway turns slightly to the west of north. At 11th street is the St. Denis Hotel and restaurant, and Methodist Mission building. Both sides of the way are lined with stores devoted to pictures, music, dry goods, furniture, fancy goods, and aught else heart could wish or money buy. The Star Theater, on the corner of East 13th street, once Wallack's, and afterwards the Germania, is the first of the up-town and high-class thea-

UNION SQUARE, AND FOURTEENTH STREET.

This Square extends from East 14th street to East 17th street. Fourth avenue makes its eastern boundary and Broadway follows its western side. In the center is an oval planted with grass and trees and ornamented with a fountain. On 14th street, to the east, is the equestrian statue of Washington, and on the west the bronze statue of Lincoln. Union Square was once the residence of the more fashionable people. It is now invaded by stores and hotels and is devoted to business. On entering the Square from Broadway the Union Square Theater and the Morton House Hotel may be found on 14th street, a few doors to the east. A few steps beyond Fourth avenue, on 14th street, is the white marble façade of Steinway & Son's pianoforte warerooms; the Academy of Music on the corner of Irving Place, and still beyond, Tammany Hall, both of them buildings celebrated in their way.

From Broadway to Sixth avenue, 14th street, with its broad avenue and elegant array of milliners' and dry goods stores, scores of sidewalk vendors and rich toilets, presents one of the most animated scenes of the city. At the corner of Sixth avenue is the immense emporium of R. H. Macy & Co., which has been compared to the Bon Marché of Paris. On the west side of the Square, just above 14th street, is the Spingler Block, in which is Brentano's famous news agency, and on the corner of 15th street is Tiffany & Co.'s great iron store, a vast museum of silverware, jewelry and articles of elegance. Music stores and artistic china and glassware establishments abound on this block. On Fourth avenue, on the corner of 15th street, is the Union Square Hotel. Further on is the Singer Manufacturing Co.'s building, several good table d'hôte restaurants, and the Westmoreland, an elegant family hotel. Diagonally opposite, on the north side of the Square, on the corner of 17th street, the Everett House. One of the most prominent buildings on the Square is the fine brick edifice occupied by Worthington & Smith, The Century Co., and others. On this north side of the Square is a broad plaza for reviewing troops, etc. Beyond Union Square Broadway continues in a north-westerly direction, and is crowded with stores of every variety. On every side may be seen hotels that are palaces, club-houses costly beyond description, and churches and private dwellings that would be an honor to any city. Long vistas open up and down three of the most remarkable streets in the country, while the life, animation and variety offered at every moment bewilder and charm the intelligent observer. At the south-west corner of the Square, at the junction of Broadway and Fifth avenue and 23d street, stands the great marble pile of the Fifth Avenue Hotel. On the corner of 24th street stands the well-known Albemarle Hotel, and at 25th street is the celebrated Hoffman House, where may be seen Bougereau's splendid painting, Nymphs and Satyr, which the clerks will tell you is valued at $30,000. In the south-west corner of the park is the statue of W. H. Seward, modeled by Randolph Rogers, erected in 1876. At the north-west corner is the statue of Admiral Farragut by A. St. Gaudens, perhaps the most artistic work of its kind in the city. At the triangle between Broadway, Fifth avenue and 24th street, stands the stone shaft erected by the city to the memory of General Worth. Immediately behind it is the palatial building of the New York Club. From this point Broadway continues north-westerly towards Sixth avenue. Concerning the other buildings on the eastern and northern sides of Madison Square, more may be found under the head of "Fifth Avenue" and "Madison Avenue," on another page. Continuing up Broadway we find a number of first-class stores, and pass Worth House at 25th street, the St. James' Hotel, on the corner of West 26th street. Between 27th and 28th streets, on the east side of Broadway, is the Crittenden Hotel. On the south-east corner of 27th street is the gigantic Victoria Family Hotel, one of the most lofty and palatial structures in the country. On the north-west corner is the Coleman House. A few steps west of Broadway, on 28th street, is the fashionable Fifth Avenue Theater. On the east side of Broadway, above 28th street, is the Sturtevant House, and on the corner of 29th street rises the towering front of the Gilsey House. At 30th street is the new Wallack's Theater, and on the corner of 31st street is the well-known Grand Hotel. Beyond are the Winchester and Rensselaer apartment houses. Near 30th street is Daly's Theater, formerly Wood's Museum. At 32d street is the Sloane apartment house, and opposite the Standard Theater. Just beyond is the Parker House, with one of the best restaurants in the city. At 34th street Broadway crosses Sixth avenue, and at the base of the triangular park between the two streets at 32d street, is the beautiful marble building of the Dime Savings Bank. On the corner of West 34th street stands the imposing Broadway Tabernacle, Rev. Dr. Taylor, Pastor. The New Park Theater is at 35th street, and nearly opposite is the Armory of the 71st Regiment. At 38th street is the new Hotel Normandie, and at 39th street is the elegant apartment house Élite. At 39th street is the Casino, one of the handsomest theaters in the city, specially suited for summer entertainments. From 39th to 40th streets, reaching to Seventh avenue, is the Metropolitan Opera House, spoken of elsewhere. Near by, in 40th street, is the Hotel Vendome, and on the corner is the Cosmopolitan Theater. At 42d street are the St. Cloud and Rossmore Hotels, and at 43d the Barrett House. The Albany, Saratoga, and Newport are on the corners of West 52d street, the Rockingham at West 56th, and the Paris at West 57th street, all flats or family hotels. Other of the fashionable apartment houses on Broadway are the Beaconsfield at 31st street, the Interlaken at 38th street, the Strathmore at 52d street, the Irvington at 53d street, and the Clermont and the Windsor at 54th street. At West 59th street Broadway touches Eighth avenue and ends at the circle and the Boulevard. Here is one of the entrances to Central Park, and the neighborhood is rapidly becoming one of the great fashionable centers of the city. The Grand Boulevard Hotel occupies the block between Eighth avenue and Broadway, and makes a fit ending to this remarkable street. Beyond this, the Boulevard, a wide avenue handsomely laid out, continues along the west side of the city, and over the heights of the Hudson, to Spuyten Duyvil Creek and into Westchester County.

FIFTH AVENUE.

Next to Broadway this is the most important and interesting street in New York. It is a broad, straight street, beginning at Washington Square in Waverley Place, and extending in a northerly direction, past the east side of Central Park, to Mount Morris Park, in Harlem. It is closely built up as far as 79th street, and beyond this point is being rapidly occupied. It already represents several miles of costly and elegant residences and churches, and is the one grand street to visit, even if nothing else is seen in the city. It presents a charming succession of fine buildings, and an endless procession of people, and turnouts rivaling anything of the kind in the world. Beginning at Washington Square the first building of interest seen is the Brevoort

House, on the N. E. corner of 8th street, one of the most elegant hotels in New York. It is celebrated for its quiet and refined surroundings, the superior excellence of the cuisine department, and the cultivated class of patrons it attracts.

At 9th street is the Berkeley, a large family hotel, and on the N. W. corner of 10th street is the Church of the Ascension, Rev. E. Winchester Donald, Rector, and on the opposite corner is the "Grosvenor," an apartment house. On the west side of the avenue, between 11th and 12th streets, is the First Presbyterian Church. On the S. E. corner of 15th street the Hanover flats, and on the S. W. corner of 15th street is the Manhattan Club Building. Close by, on 15th street, is the fine building of the New York Hospital. At the N. W. corner of 18th street is the new Chickering Music Hall, and Chickering & Son's piano-forte warerooms. At 19th street is the rear entrance of Arnold & Constable's great store. Between 19th and 20th streets are Cottier's Art Rooms. At 21st street is the South Ref. Dutch Church, of which Rev. Roderick Terry is Pastor. The Union Club House is on the N. W. corner and the Lotus Club House opposite on the N. E. corner of 21st street. Between 21st and 22d streets are the Glenham Hotel and Kohn's Art Rooms, and at 22d street are the Cumberland flats. At 22d street is the Art Gallery of Knoedler & Co., formerly Goupil's. At 23d street Fifth avenue crosses Broadway, and touches the west side of Madison Square. The celebrated Fifth Avenue Hotel occupies the corner of 23d street, and at the S. W. corner of 26th street, just beyond Worth Monument, is Delmonico's famous catering establishment, while diagonally opposite, on the N. E. corner, is its rival, the Brunswick.

The Victoria Hotel presents a fine front on Fifth avenue, at the corner of West 27th street, and beyond, on the opposite side, is a new building devoted to apartments for bachelors. There are very few stores on Fifth avenue. The street is given up to the residences of the more wealthy people of the city. The street is lined with trees, and each block seems to rival the others in richness of material and profusion and splendor of architectural ornamentation. The church on the corner of West 29th street is the Fifth Avenue Dutch Reformed. The small stone church on the corner of East 35th street is Christ's Church. At the corner of West 37th street is the Brick Church, belonging to the Presbyterian denomination. Fifth avenue here climbs the gentle elevation known as Murray Hill, and affords a magnificent exhibition of New York wealth and luxury. The beautiful churches, costly residences, and palatial hotels, that for the next mile line the streets, present a sight rarely met with in the world. The most wealthy and noted families of the city live hereabouts. The two brick houses on the west side of the street, and between West 33d and 34th streets, are the residences of the Astor family. The great white marble palace on the north-west corner of West 34th street is the residence of the late Mr. Alexander T. Stewart, and at the north-east corner of 39th street is the Union League Club House. On the west side, between 40th and 42d streets, is the massive stone Croton Reservoir, and on the south-east corner of 42d street is the Columbia Bank. The north-west corner is occupied by the Bristol family hotel. At the corner of East 43d street stands the beautiful Jewish Temple. This building, with its double towers and profuse and elaborate decorations, stands in high contrast to the Christian churches. At the corner of West 45th street is the plain brown stone church, made famous through the eloquence of its late pastor, Rev E. H. Chapin, now under the pastorate of the Rev. Charles H. Eaton. The single tower just above East 45th street marks the entrance to the beautiful church known as the Church of the Heavenly Rest. Just beyond, and filling the front of block between 46th and 47th streets, stands the celebrated Windsor Hotel, one of the most elegant and costly hotels in the world. At the corner of West 48th street is the highly ornate and striking Dutch Reformed Church, Rev. Edward B. Coe, Pastor, and at the corner of 50th street is the new Buckingham Hotel. Filling the entire space between 50th and 51st streets is the immense St. Patrick's Cathedral, the largest and finest edifice of the kind in America. Though unfinished, it is a marvel of architectural beauty, and if the visitor sees nothing else in New York, this will amply repay the trouble of a visit. To understand its vast size and to see all its wonderful beauty, the visitor should walk round the Square and view every side. Between 51st and 52d streets, on west side, are the brown stone residences of the Vanderbilt family. On the north-west corner of 52d street is that of Mr. W. K. Vanderbilt. The next church on Fifth avenue is St. Thomas' Church, at the corner of 53d street. Adjoining it is the newly built house of Dr. Seward Webb, Mr. W. H. Vanderbilt's son-in-law. At the Square, between 54th and 55th streets, stand the buildings of St. Luke's Hospital, and on the corner of 55th street is the new Fifth Avenue Presbyterian Church, better known as Dr. Hall's. On corner of 57th street is the elegant residence of Mr. Cornelius Vanderbilt. From this point to 59th street, Fifth avenue is lined with a number of remarkably fine private residences, and there the grand avenue touches Central Park, at the Scholars' Gate. On 59th street, west of the avenue, are the Boston, Lorimer and other fine flats, and the Charlier Institute. Beyond this, the avenue keeps on the east side of the Park, and ultimately reaches Harlem River. The avenue is not wholly built up, and north of 69th street presents few objects of interest, except the many elegant residences and the Lenox Library, between 70th and 71st streets.

MADISON AND LEXINGTON AVENUES.

Though these avenues are not classed among the great avenues, as they are somewhat shorter, they rank next to Fifth avenue in interest and importance for residences. Madison avenue begins at East 23d street, at the southern end of Madison Square, and extends north between Fourth and Fifth avenues to Harlem. Lexington avenue, including Irving Place, begins at East 14th street and extends north between Fourth and Third avenues to Harlem River. They are, as it were, extra avenues between the great, wide avenues, and both are more or less occupied by the residences of the more wealthy people. Madison avenue has a number of fine churches that may be briefly pointed out in order, beginning at Madison Square. The first is the Madison Square Presbyterian Church, on the south-east corner of 24th street. At the south-east corner of 26th street is the handsome building of the University Club. The low building filling the entire block between 26th and 27th streets was formerly the depot of the New York and New Haven Railroad. It is now called Madison Square Garden. At the south-west corner of 29th street is the Rutgers Presbyterian Church, and on south-east corner of 31st is the Madison Avenue Baptist. The small church at the left, on north side of 29th street, is the Church of the Transfiguration, popularly known as "The Little Church round the Corner." At 38th street is Zion's Church, and at the corner of 42d street is the beautiful Church of the Holy Trinity. At 44th street stands St. Bartholomew's, one of the most elegant churches in the city, and at the corner of 45th street the Church of the Disciples. This church is built of iron, and is more curious than beautiful. At 50th street are the Columbia College buildings. The splendid residences at 51st street were built by Mr. Villard. At 52d street are the Berkshire flat and the Roman Catholic Orphan Asylum. At the corner of 53d street is the 53d street Memorial Presbyterian Church, Rev. C. S. Robinson, D.D., Pastor, and the St. Catherine flat. There are several churches, large flats, and fine private residences above. Of the first we may mention the new Methodist Church at 60th street, of the latter the Sutherland at 63d street. At 70th street may be seen the beautiful Lenox Hospital, erected through the liberality of James Lenox; and at 89th street is the St. Luke's Home and the Church of the Beloved Disciple, among the most interesting buildings in the city. Aside from these, Madison avenue presents nothing special beyond this point.

LEXINGTON AVENUE.

This avenue naturally includes Irving Place, that begins at East 14th street and extends north between Third and Fourth avenues to East 20th street at Gramercy Park. At the other side of this small park the street is continued under the name of Lexington avenue, as far north as Harlem River. It is closely built up with dwellings of the better class as far as 79th street, and though neither Irving Place nor the avenue contain many public buildings, they are both interesting as places of residences. At 14th street is the Academy of Music, a large building of rather forbidding aspect, and the largest theater in the city. At the corner of 15th street is Irving Hall, used for concerts and public meetings. At the north-west corner of East 16th street is the Westminster Hotel. At 20th street Irving Place ends at Gramercy Park, notable in which are the Gramercy flat at the south-east, and the residence of Mr. S. J. Tilden at the south-west corners. Beyond the park the first building of importance on Lexington avenue is the College of the City of New York, occupying a large brick building in the Gothic style on the south-east corner of 23d street. On the opposite corner is the Twenty-third Street Baptist Church. Beyond this point the avenue is entirely occupied by dwellings, and makes a fine quiet street for the better class of residences. The church on the corner of 35th street is the Church of St. John the Baptist. At 42d street are the Asylum for Cripples, the Vanderbilt Hotel, and the new fire-proof Manhattan Storage Building. The German Evangelical church at 46th street, the Woman's Hospital at 50th street, the Methodist church at 52d street, the fine Jewish Synagogue at 55th street, and the hall of the Liederkrantz, in 58th street, are the most noteworthy buildings. At 66th street may be seen the fine buildings of the Mount Sinai Hospital, and the Seventh Regiment Armory. Beyond this there is nothing of special interest.

FOURTH AVENUE AND BOWERY.

Fourth avenue is a continuation of the old thoroughfare known as the Bowery, extending from Chatham street in the lower part of the city northward to Harlem River, a distance of 9 miles. Above 42d street Fourth avenue is occupied by the immense Fourth avenue Tunnel and an open cut occupied by the railroads centering at the Grand Central Depot. At 34th street there is a tunnel for the horse railroads, extending to 42d street, and the street above is known for that distance as Park avenue. The Bowery, extending from Chatham street to 6th street, is wholly devoted to business. It is a wide street and somewhat noted for the immense traffic crowding it at all times. The stores are generally of the second and third class, and it contains no buildings of importance or special value, except the Dry Dock Savings Bank at the corner of Third street. The Windsor Theater, near Canal street, was burned in the fall of 1883. The People's Theater, opposite Spring street, is a large hall where respectable performances are given at a low rate. Harry Miner's and the London are the largest of the variety theaters. The Bowery is worth inspecting as a curious sample of certain phases of New York life and business, and as illustrative of the enterprise and industry of the great middle class of people. Fourth avenue begins at the junction of Third avenue and the Bowery. The great stone building standing between the two avenues is the Cooper Union. At the block between 8th and 9th streets is the great brick building known as the Bible House. In its vicinity are Astor, Clinton, Lafayette, Waverly Places, and the Mercantile and Astor Libraries. The fine brick building on the corner of Astor and Lafayette Places is occupied chiefly by publishers, printers and book-binders. On the west side, between Ninth and Tenth street, is what was Stewart's great retail dry goods store. Opposite 11th street is Grace Church Memorial Chapel. At the south-east corner of 14th street is the German Savings Bank. Here Fourth avenue passes along the eastern side of Union Square. The warerooms of Steinway & Sons may here be seen on 14th street, while the Union Square Hotel comes just above at 15th street. At 17th street, facing Union Square, is the Everett House, and on the corner of 18th are the Clarendon, one of the oldest and best hotels in New York, the Belvedere House on the north-west corner, and the Florence flats on the north-east corner. At 20th street is the Unitarian Church, formerly presided over by the late Rev. Dr. Bellows, and known as All Souls' Church. At 21st street is Calvary Episcopal Church, of which the Rev. Henry Y. Satterlee is Rector. On the north-east corner of 22d street is St Paul's Methodist Episcopal Church, and opposite, on

This is merely a continuation of Fourth avenue on the top of the hill. The horse railroad passes through the tunnel and Fourth avenue is continued beyond. At 32d street may be seen the handsome gigantic Park Avenue Hotel, built by the late A. T. Stewart. Park avenue is occupied by a better class of houses than Fourth avenue, and contains three handsome churches: the Church of the Messiah (Unitarian), Rev. Robert Collyer, Pastor, at 34th street; the Church of the Covenant, at 35th street, and the First Baptist Church, at 39th street. At 40th street an immense hotel has recently been erected, called the Murray Hill Hotel. At 41st street may be seen the popular Grand Union Hotel, and the avenue reaches an apparent end at the immense

GRAND CENTRAL DEPOT.

This is one of the largest and most imposing buildings in the country. It consists of a "head house" on 42d street, in which are the waiting rooms and general offices of the N. Y. and N. H. R. R. Co., a long continuation along the west side, containing the waiting rooms and general offices of the Harlem and N. Y. Central and Hudson River R.R.'s, and an immense iron "train house," seven hundred feet long, three hundred feet wide, and nearly one hundred feet high, covering all in one great span roof. The style is French, with Mansard towers, and, seen from the west or south, the building is both grand and striking. The interior, particularly at night, is impressive for its enormous size, its lightness of construction, and grace of outline. The Lincoln Bank and Safe Deposit Building in 42d street, near Park avenue, is among the finest of recent erections. A short distance to the right, on 42d street, is the Asylum for Cripples, occupying a curious looking building of brick and iron on the north side of the street. Beyond 42d street the yards of the three railroads that use the Grand Central Depot occupy Fourth avenue as far as 50th street. Crossing from Madison avenue to Lexington avenue are a number of iron foot and carriage bridges. Beyond 59th street the railroad is sunk below the level of Fourth or Park avenue in an immense open cut and tunnel that makes one of the most remarkable pieces of railroad engineering to be found in the country. Visitors who have time should not fail to examine this immense and most interesting work. At 50th street may be seen a portion of the buildings belonging to the Columbia College and School of Mines on the west side of the avenue. Opposite are the buildings

CITY OF NEW YORK.

Though it does not present many public buildings of interest, it is one of the most famous thoroughfares in New York, and is well worth a visit on account of its life, animation, and business activity. Its miles of stores offer every attraction to the shopper. The chief buildings of interest may be found in the lower part of the avenue. At the junction with Greenwich avenue, near Ninth street, is the Jefferson Market court and prison, a striking Gothic building with lofty clock tower, and the new Jefferson Market, completed in 1884. At West Fourteenth street, a little to the left, is the Fourteenth Street Theater, and a little farther west is the armory of the Twenty-second Regiment. On the west side of the street are some of the largest retail stores in New York—Simpson, Crawford & Simpson's, Altman's, O'Neill's, and others. At the south-east corner of West 23d street formerly stood Booth's Theater, one of the most fashionable places of amusement in the city, now completely remodeled and made into fine stores and offices. On the opposite corner is the Masonic Temple, perhaps the most costly and magnificent building of its character in the country. Besides the Masonic Halls and offices, it contains the Garfield Bank and spacious and magnificent fire-proof rooms and vaults of the Central Safe Deposit Company. A few steps to the left, down West 23d street, is the new Twenty-third Street Theater. At 28th street are the Rushton flats. At 34th street Sixth avenue crosses Broadway. At 40th street is the new Hotel Royal, and extending from 40th to 42d street is Bryant Park. At 43d street are the large stables of the Sixth avenue horse car line. A number of small hotels may be found on this avenue, all of them more or less favorites with the traveling public. Beyond this there is little of particular interest on this avenue except its numerous and attractive stores.

SEVENTH AVENUE.

This avenue begins at Greenwich Avenue near West 11th street, and extends north between Sixth and Eighth avenues to 59th street, at Central Park. It is more quiet than Sixth or Eighth avenues, and is partly occupied by stores and dwelling-houses. The business portion extends to about 42d street, and from there to 50th it is lined with dwellings. Broadway crosses at 45th street, and here is the Armory of the Twelfth Regiment. At 50th street are the stables of the Broadway and Seventh avenue horse car lines. The Adelphi flats at 52d street, the Vancorleaur at 56th, the Grenoble at 57th, and the large stone front on the opposite corner are the most notable buildings. At 55th street is an octagonal building, used for panoramas and other shows. 59th street, from Seventh avenue to Broadway, is ornamented by a long row of "flats," the Cordova, Madrid, Granada, and others, usually called the Navarro or Spanish flats. The Broadway line of horse-cars use the upper part of this avenue jointly with the Seventh avenue line, and take passengers to the same gate of the Park.

EIGHTH AVENUE.

This long and busy avenue begins at Greenwich street, at Abingdon Square, and extends northerly past Central Park along its western side to Central Bridge over the Harlem River at a point once known as "McComb's Dam." The only building of special interest in the lower part of the avenue is the Grand Opera House at the corner of West 23d street. A large variety theater, Harry Miner's, is at 25th street. Opposite is Ehrich's great dry goods store. Beyond this point the avenue is entirely devoted to retail trade. A walk through the place of a Saturday evening gives one of New York's most peculiar sights. The petty trade that crowds every store and clings to the edge of every walk is something wonderful, while the vast throngs of people out shopping by gas-light are more wonderful still. Above 50th street a better class of stores and more expensive residences appear. At 59th street, Eighth avenue, Broadway and the Boulevard unite in a circle or circus. Near by is the Park View apartment house. A fine hotel fills one side, and one of the entrances to Central Park, fancifully called the "Merchant's Gate," makes another. To the left a short distance down 59th street may be seen the picturesque towers and buildings of the Roosevelt Hospital. Beyond 59th street, Eighth avenue runs on the west side of Central Park its entire length, passing the gates at 72d, 79th, 85th, 96th, 100th and 110th streets. Between 72d and 73d streets is the mammoth Dakota flat, the largest in the city. Beyond Central Park the avenue descends a long hill to the flats bordering Harlem River. Here views of High Bridge and the surrounding country may be obtained. At the river the avenue passes a few scattered blocks of houses and follows the old country road to Central Bridge, leading to the main land. Beyond the river the Hudson River Railroad is crossed and the road enters the open country.

OTHER AVENUES.

Besides the great avenues already mentioned there are a number of others of equal length, but of less interest to the stranger. At the east side of the city are the four shorter avenues, known as Avenues A, B, C, and D. They each begin at Houston street and extend northward to the East River. Avenue A is next east of First avenue, Avenue B comes next, and C and D follow in order, each being shorter than the last. They are all occupied by a poorer class of houses and present no special features of interest. First avenue and Second avenue lie east of Third avenue, and both begin at Houston street and extend northward to Harlem River between Third avenue and the East River or Avenue A. They are compactly built up in the lower part, but opposite Central Park they are still more or less unfinished. On the west side of the city next west of Eighth avenue, are Ninth, Tenth and Eleventh avenues. Ninth avenue is closely built up as far as 59th street, where a large Roman Catholic Church has just been erected, and is chiefly remarkable as the site of the New York Elevated Railroad. All of these avenues are occupied by shops and manufactories and by tenements, for the immense population that throngs them at all times. The peculiar shape of New York city makes further description of the streets unnecessary. Broadway and the great avenues make its business thoroughfares, its residences are mainly on the cross streets that intersect the island from east to west.

PLACES OF AMUSEMENT.

It has been said, "London for business, Paris for pleasure, New York for both." However true this may be, it is certain that New York is abundantly supplied with amusements of every kind and quality. Its first-class theaters are equal to any in the world. New York is a great center to which all artists, both musical and dramatic, foreign as well as native, look for their highest honors, and in turn they all appear here. Chief among New York places of amusement come the first-class theaters. Each may be briefly mentioned in order and the visitor can then select to suit himself. The prices vary greatly, but even at the best houses the charges are reasonably low.

Madison Square Theater, adjoining the Fifth Avenue Hotel, in 24th street, was newly opened in the spring of 1879. It is famous for long runs and splendidly set plays, and for the beauty of its decoration and its double stage.

Fifth Avenue Theater, located on 28th street near Broadway, is a select and fashionable resort, devoted to first class dramatic performances, both "star" and stock companies appearing. The dramas are generally of the modern society type, and are unexceptionable.

Wallack's Theater, on Broadway corner of 30th street, is a handsome theater, devoted exclusively to first-class plays. The mounting and acting are invariably of the finest and most artistic. The plays generally belong to the highest modern school.

Union Square Theater, on 14th street and Union Square, rivals the Fifth Avenue and Wallack's in point of artistic rendering of its performances. The company is maintained at a high standard and the plays given are always admirably presented. The dramas commonly belong to the modern French school.

Fourteenth Street Theater, formerly the Lyceum, on West 14th street, near Sixth avenue, formerly under the management of Mr. J. H. Haverly, presents a varied list of attractions.

Tony Pastor's Theater, on East 14th street near Third avenue, presents a variety of plays, generally of a light order.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE,
W. 23d St. and Eighth Avenue.

Academy of Music, 14th street and Irving Place, is devoted to opera and dramatic performances of the highest order. For several years Italian opera has been given here by Col. Mapleson's troupe, The younger rival of the Academy is the Metropolitan Opera House, at Broadway and Seventh avenue, between 39th and 40th streets, in most respects the finest building of the kind in this country. Mr. Abbey's management has brought about a sharp rivalry in the lists of prima donnas and operas presented at the two opera-houses.

The Casino, Broadway and 39th street, is one of the most beautiful of the recent theaters, has a delightful open-air restaurant on the roof, and is devoted to light opera and concerts.

New Park Theater, Broadway and 35th street, has a good stock company, including several old members of the Booth's Theater company.

Daly's Theater is the old Broadway and Wood's Museum changed and improved, on the corner of Broadway and 30th street.

Standard Theater is a pretty little place of amusement on Sixth Avenue and Broadway near West 33d street.

Niblo's Garden Theater, under the Metropolitan Hotel, Broadway and Prince street, presents spectacular and sensational plays.

McKee Rankin's Theater, at Third Avenue and 31st street, presents melodrama chiefly.

Thalia Theater, at 46 Bowery, is devoted to German plays.

Star Theater, formerly Wallack's, is located on Broadway corner of 13th street.

Grand Opera House, on Eighth avenue and West 23d street, is one of the largest theaters in New York. Here are given the plays, at reduced prices of admission, which first appear at the more fashionable theaters.

People's Theater, on the Bowery opposite Spring street, is also conducted on the plan of good plays at reduced prices.

Theatre Comique, 730 Broadway (Harrigan & Hart's), also gives plays of a sensational and comic character. Other variety theaters are:

Harry Miner's, on the Bowery between Delancey and Broome streets.

London, on the Bowery, between Rivington and Stanton streets.

Grand Central, on Eighth street (formerly Aberle's), and Harry Miner's, at Eighth avenue and 25th street.

Twenty-third Street Theater, 23d street near Sixth avenue, is much patronized by traveling companies for short "runs."

New York Comedy Theater, Broadway near 28th street, gives light comedy and melodrama.

Steinway Hall, East 14th street, near Broadway and Fourth avenue.

Chickering Hall, corner of Fifth avenue and 18th street, are places devoted to concerts in the winter. First-class concerts are given at these places almost every night from October to June, and the particulars may be found in the daily papers.

Madison Square Garden, Madison and Fourth avenues, and 26th and 27th streets, is used during the summer season for garden concerts, and during the winter months for athletic sports.

ART GALLERIES.

New York, though not well supplied with free art galleries, has a number of art stores, all of which are open to the public, and these make up in part for the absence of a great gallery. The Academy of Design, on the corner of E. 23d street and Fourth avenue, is the largest and best gallery in the city. Exhibitions of paintings are held here at certain times in the year, and a small fee is charged at the door. The Metropolitan Museum of Art, devoted to painting, sculpture and ceramic art, is open all the year, and is free to the public on last four days in the week and holidays. A fee is charged other days. The museum is a very fine one, and is located in Central Park, at 83d street and Fifth avenue. The Lenox Library, close by, on Fifth avenue, has some fine old masters. Cooper Institute, Free, Fourth avenue and 8th street, and the Historical Society, corner Second avenue and 11th street, where strangers are received on introduction by members, have many portraits. The latter has the famous Abbott collection of Egyptian antiquities, and 800 oil paintings. In addition to these are a number of picture galleries attached to picture stores, all of which are freely open to the public. Knoedler & Co.'s, late Goupil's, at the corner of 22d street and Fifth avenue, is the most noted of these. Cottier & Co., No. 144 Fifth avenue, includes ceramic art, stained glass, and the higher kinds of household decorations. Avery's, 88 Fifth avenue; Kohn's, 166 Fifth avenue; and Schaus's, No. 749 Broadway, are devoted to oil paintings and engravings. At Sypher & Co.'s, Broadway and 17th street, may be seen a large gallery of ceramics and statuary. At Kurtz's Photographic Gallery, on 23d street (Madison Square), is a fine gallery in which paintings of all kinds are often on exhibition. Besides these are a great number of lesser places, all of which display pictures of varying merit. At various times during the season, galleries of paintings are displayed at the various art auctions, due notice of which may be found in the daily papers. The Stewart, Vanderbilt, Belmont, and other private collections can be seen by the public but rarely, and under restrictions. The principal yearly exhibitions are of the Academy of Design, of the American Water Color Society, and of the Society of American Artists.

LIBRARIES.

The Astor Library, founded by John Jacob Astor in 1848, is free to all for reference, but none of the books can be taken from the building. It is located in Lafayette Place and numbers over 200,000 volumes. The Mercantile Library in Astor Place is general in its character. It has a large reading-room, and keeps its shelves well supplied with all the new books. It was established in 1848, and is free to its members only. It counts 200,000 volumes. Branches have been established at 2 Liberty street and 431 Fifth avenue. The Society Library, in University Place, was organized in 1754. It has a library of 75,000 volumes, reading-room, etc. It is exclusively used by shareholders, and such others as may pay a small annual fee. The Apprentice's Library, belonging to the "General Society of Mechanics and Tradesmen of the City of New York," is free to apprentices; others pay a small fee. It is of a general character, numbering 65,000 volumes. The Library of the Historical Society, numbering 70,000, and the Eclectic Library, 30,000 volumes, stand next in importance. The New York Institute Law Library, in P. O. Building, is open to members of the bar on payment of a fee of $150. It numbers about 25,000 volumes, exclusively on legal subjects. The Cooper Union Library, of a general character, and numbering about 16,500 volumes, is entirely free. It also includes a free reading-room, both located in the Cooper Union, at the junction of Fourth and Third avenues. The Library of the Association of the Bar of New York, located in 29th street, was started in 1871, and now numbers nearly 20,000 volumes. The Geographical Society and the American Institute have libraries of about 20,000 and 16,000 volumes. The Young Men's Christian Association has a general library of 36,000 volumes in its building on East 23d street, for the use of its members only. The City Library, in the City Hall, consists entirely of public documents, and is free to such as wish to consult its 4,000 books. The Free Circulating Library, 36 Bond street, is doing a good work in giving out good books for home reading to all respectable people without charge. Contributions of books and money are earnestly welcomed. The Mott Memorial Library, devoted to medical and scientific books, was founded by the widow of Dr. Valentine Mott. It numbers 4,000 volumes and is free. Besides these are the Women's Library in Bleecker street, numbering over 3,000 volumes, and free to working-women; the Library of the Natural History Society—12,000 volumes; the library of the Medical Library and Journal Association in East 28th street—3,500 volumes; the Harlem Library—12,000 volumes; the Printers' Library—3,500 volumes; the Washington Heights Library, with 2,500 volumes; the Five Points Mission (free) and the Young Women's Christian Association, 7 East 15th street. The Lenox Library, occupying a magnificent building on Fifth avenue, between 70th and 71st streets, has been lately called by one of the trustees a museum rather than a library. It is not easily accessible to the general public, and is strongest in rare, curious and costly editions. There are many other libraries in the city of less importance than the above. We append a list of the principal libraries of the city, giving their location and the hours they are open to the public:

CITY OF NEW YORK.

CITY OF NEW YORK.

CENTRAL PARK.

Central Park is the great pleasure ground of New York, and the chief point of interest for visitors. If the stranger with but half a day at command fails to visit it, he misses the great "show place" of the city. Any city can show its streets, hotels, theaters and churches. Few can exhibit such rural charms, adorned by art, in the midst of its streets and houses. Eight hundred and forty-three acres of lawn, drives, shady walk, garden and wood, lake and brook, right in the heart of the town. At once a sanitary measure, play-ground for children, grand avenues for lordly carriages and whispering places for lovers. The wilderness of marsh, rough hill and tangled woodland, extending from 59th to 110th streets, between Fifth and Eighth avenues, was taken in hand by the engineer and landscape gardener in 1858, and even to-day it is not finished, though millions of money have been spent in the best investment New York ever made. There are two ways of seeing Central Park, afoot or with a horse. Neither will show the whole, as the drives miss much of the finer and more elaborate features of the places, and the walks fail to give some of the best prospects and out-looks. More than this, many points of interest are not in reach of carriage or foot-path, but must be seen from a boat. There are 10 miles of carriage roads, 8 miles of bridle paths for horseback riders, and over 25 miles of walks.

Large and comfortable open carriages are provided at the Fifth and Eighth avenue entrances, for all visitors who care to drive through the grounds. The fare for the entire trip up to Mount St. Vincent, at the northern end of the Park, and return, is only 25 cents. By taking a return or transfer ticket, the visitor may leave the carriage at the end and may return from any point where he chooses to take another carriage. For instance, on leaving the Fifth avenue gate, a transfer ticket is taken (without extra charge), and after spending an hour or more in the upper park, carriages may be taken and quite another road may be traversed to 59th street. Another good plan is to leave the carriage at the Terrace, cross the lake, and going through the Ramble, visit the Belvedere. Then walk along the breezy paths round the great Reservoirs to Mt. St. Vincent, where any carriage that passes may be taken back to the Eighth or Fifth avenue entrances. Another pleasant trip is to walk to the Terrace and then take a carriage for Mt. St. Vincent, where a fine café has been opened (1884), replacing the old buildings burned in January, 1882. From this place a rather longer, but exceedingly picturesque walk, may be taken through the woods and up the lovely valley that leads off to the west towards Eighth avenue, and then through the pine woods to the Belvedere and the Ramble. Crossing the Lake again, another carriage may be taken at the Terrace for 59th street. The simple ride up and back, a distance of about five miles, shows many of the chief points of interest in the Park and gives a most charming journey. All the grand turnouts and carriages may be seen on the road, and stops are made at such places as offer good views of the various statues and prospects. From three o'clock till dark is the best time to see the driving and the display of fine horses and gorgeous apparel. Saturday and Sunday are the most brilliant days of the week. These Park carriages are under the control of the Park Commissioners, and may be taken without hesitation, as they are always safe and clean. Everybody uses them, and they are considered quite as elegant as the public hacks that may be hired at the gates. These hacks and open carriages charge 50 cents or more for each passenger and only hold four. Park carriages may also be taken at 72d street for the trip through Riverside Park, a beautiful drive beside the Hudson, from 72d street to 130th street. The fee for the trip is 25 cents.

The Bridle Roads are marked "for visitors on horseback only," and are exclusively devoted to their use. They join the drives near the gates and pass through some very retired and interesting parts of the Park. A good gallop may be obtained upon them without fear, as they avoid the greater part of the drives and go under or over nearly all the foot-paths.

The Park Afoot.—This is, by far, the best way to see Central Park. The visitor who has only a short time to give to the place, and who wishes to "do all the sights" as easily and conveniently as possible, had best take the Sixth or Third avenue elevated road to 59th street. If he enters at the "Artisan's Gate" at the end of Seventh avenue on 59th street, the broad path may be taken that gently curves to the right, and passes under a pretty vine-covered bridge. The bridges in the Park are all of great interest and beauty. No two are alike. There are 48 bridges, archways and tunnels in the Park. Each is a study in itself, and the ornamental architecture is varied with great taste. Beyond the bridge the path climbs a small hill and crosses an iron bridge over one of the bridle paths. Here we turn to the right and presently come to the great lawn.

CITY OF NEW YORK.

Play Ground.—Visitors are generally not allowed to walk on the grass, but on certain days this place is declared free, and then thousands of boys and young children roam on this wide field and play ball and other games. On such days signs are put up marked, "Common," and then the grass land is free. Off to the left here may be seen a mass of high bare rock. Such places as this, where there is no grass, are always free everywhere in the Park. Going on we pass through a rustic arbor and come to the Carousel.—Here are swings, a "merry-go-round," and plenty of amusement for the younger children. Leaving these delights, we turn sharply to the right and go under another bridge and come to a high rock bank surmounted by an immense rustic arbor. This is one of the sights of the Park, and it is well worth while to turn aside and climb over the smooth rocks to see it. Coming back to the path we soon come to

The Dairy, a restaurant where milk and ice-cream and a few simple things are for sale, and it furnishes a nice place for children's lunches. Swings and other amusements are provided near by. Just before reaching the Dairy the path turns to the right and soon comes to

The Marble Arch, an archway under the road, with steps leading up to the paths beyond. The archway and stairs are all of marble, and the structure is both massive and beautiful. Mounting the steps we come suddenly upon one of the grand sights of the Park. Here the drive divides and we enter

The Mall, a broad path lined with trees, extending from the Marble Arch to the Terrace. It gives a fine view of this part of the Park and makes the grand promenade. The Belvedere tower can be seen at the end of the long vista, and here may be seen fashionable turnouts and crowds of pleasure-seekers, on their way to the Lake and the Rambles. Goat carriages for children's rides are here also. Several of the best statues in the Park may here be seen. The statue of Shakespeare, a standing figure, comes first. Second is a statue of Robert Burns. Next is the figure of Walter Scott, and further on that of Fitz Greene Halleck; and a short distance to the left is a fine figure of an Indian hunter and his dog. Farther off, to the left, may be seen the large level field known as

The Common.—A flock of sheep roam over the grass, tended by a gray old shepherd and a very knowing shepherd dog, whose actions in his care of the flock afford amusement and study for all interested in such matters. Instead of taking the Mall and going directly to the Lake, we may here take the first or second path to the right. Passing under the road, we follow the winding path down hill and under another stone bridge, to

The Museum and Menagerie.—Here a collection of birds and wild animals of various kinds and a museum of natural history is opened free, and an hour or more may be profitably spent in examining both. The objects are all close together, and it requires no special guidance to find them all. Having seen these things, take the same path back as far as the place where it divides just under three great willow trees. Keeping on, we pass another small play-ground for children, and keeping off to the left, soon come to a part of the drive. Crossing the roadway and taking the path to the right, and then keeping off in that direction, we come to a few stone steps, and then enter a long rustic arbor at the Great Circle.—Here many of the pleasure-riders turn in, and driving round, view the prospect, or stop at the pretty stone cottage for lunch. From the arbor there is a view on one side down over the Mall, where the bands play, and over the terrace and the drive. The stone cottage to the right is

The Casino, a lunch-room or restaurant, and is much patronized by the visitors who come in carriages. Walking through the arbor, we may go down the steps and come out on

The Terrace.—This is the most striking and remarkable feature of the park. It is of a fine soft stone and covered with the most beautiful carvings. The central stairway goes down under the road, and the two side stairways are beyond the road. The three flights of stairs all meet below on the edge of the lake at the great bronze fountain, called Bethesda fountain, and representing the figure of an angel blessing the waters. Going down the central stairs, we enter an arched hall, devoted to a restaurant. The walls are beautifully decorated with colored tiles, and it makes a cool and pleasant spot for a slight lunch. The other stairways show the outside of the terrace, and give one an opportunity to examine the figures of birds and animals carved in the stone walls and massive balustrade. Passing the fountain below, we come to the boat landing on

The Lake.—This irregular body of water cannot all be seen at once from any one spot, and the best way to examine it is to take a boat-

ride. The trip takes about half an hour, and is very enjoyable. There are two classes of boats, one at a low price for all who choose to go with the general company, the other boats may be hired singly for a little larger fee. Boats may be hired with or without a boatman. The prices are placarded on the boat-house, and if the visitor has time, it is well worth while to take the trip. From the lake we may continue our walk by taking the path to the left of the terrace and following the shore of the lake. We soon come to a fine iron bridge over the lake, and from the top get a good view of the lake and the beautiful shores on both sides. The swans and other birds also make a feature of interest. Crossing the bridge, we enter the most interesting part of the whole park, known as

The Ramble.—As its name implies, this is a place where one may ramble for hours through shady paths, through mossy dells, over picturesque bridges, along winding lanes, among deep thickets, past bold rocks, and through woods and scattered grass. The paths, both small and great, wander in every conceivable direction, and cross each other in such a delightfully confusing way that there is no end of amusement in following them to see where they really do go. Arbors and seats are placed everywhere, and pretty views come as surprises everywhere. By taking the broad path from the bridge, a little to the left, we soon come to the donkey stand, where the children may indulge in a donkey ride if they are so inclined. Following the shore of the lake, we soon cross a rustic bridge, and mounting some steps, come to

The Schiller Monument.—It is a portrait bust, and is said to be a fine work of art. Turning to the right, we follow the signs pointing the way to

The Cave.—It is found in a deep rocky dell, and is worth visiting for the sake of the picturesque views it affords at both entrances, and for the solemn company of owls sitting inside. Passing through the cave, we may climb the steep steps beyond, and take the path overhead, or we may return by the way we came. If we return, the path may be taken to the left, and soon after to the right. This leads to a broad path up the hill to the right again. At the next turn we go to the left, and the path will lead us up over the rocks to the top of the hill, where stands

The Belvedere.—This is a stone tower or outlook, giving an extensive view over the park and the country round about. To the south may be seen the spires of the lower part of the city. To the west is the Hudson and the country beyond. East of the East River are many small islands, the Sound, Brooklyn, and the Long Island shore. To the north lies the two great reservoirs, and beyond there is the upper part of the city, with a glimpse of High Bridge. At the foot of the tower on the east side the path round the reservoirs may be taken through a pretty valley of hedges. A few steps beyond, to the right, is a flight of stone steps leading down into the Ramble again. No particular directions need be given here. The visitor may wander where he likes, look at the rabbits, peacocks and squirrels, and easily find his own way back to the lake. Crossing by the bridge, we may take the path along the beach, and go part way round the lake to the right. Meeting the drive again, we come to the statue of "The Falconer," placed on a high rocky bank. Here the path along the roadside may be taken to the left, and presently we come to the Common again. Here is a bronze group of eagles, and another path leading past there to the Mall. Another path to the right leads to the little soda-fountain stand called

The Springs.—From this part we may keep off to the right, and by going round the Common, come out the Eighth avenue entrance on 59th street. By returning to the Mall, we may keep on down the driveway to the left, or to Fifth avenue and 59th street. At the end of the Mall, near the Marble Arch, the paths to the right along the roadway lead to Sixth and Seventh avenues. The path on the right-hand side leads to Seventh avenue, and the path on the left of the road goes to Sixth avenue. This walk does not by any means include all the park. It has shown nearly all the chief points of interest within easy reach, and placed them in such an order as to enable the stranger to see as much as possible in a short time. Another excellent plan of seeing a great deal of the park in a single walk, is to take the Sixth avenue elevated road to 81st street, and thence follow the main paths in a general south-eastern direction, diagonally across the park to the gate at Fifth avenue and 59th street.

The Metropolitan Museum.—If, when at the Lake, instead of crossing the bridge, we had continued northward along the east side, a short walk would have brought us to the Metropolitan Museum of Art, at Fifth avenue and 82d street, a red brick building of modern Gothic style, 218 feet long. It was opened to the public in 1880 by President Hayes, in behalf of the trustees. Its cost was about $500,000. It contains the Di Cesnola collection of Cypriote archaeological objects, the Blodgett collection of Dutch and Flemish paintings, the Avery collection of pottery, and a great number of other curious and artistic articles. It is open to the public without charge on all week days, except Monday and Tuesday, when an admission fee of 25 cents is charged. The most important single object owned by the Museum is the painting, "Return of the Holy Family from Egypt," by Rubens. Almost facing the Museum, to the west, on a gentle elevation, stands

The Obelisk.—This monument of antiquity was given to New York in 1877, by Ismail Pacha, then Khedive of Egypt. With its companion, now in London, it was erected by Thutmes III. as an offering of praise to the sun-god, who had given him many victories. It is fully 3,400 years old. The hieroglyphics on one side have become unintelligible. The other inscriptions are invocations to the sun-god and adulations of Thutmes, and his descendant, Ramses. The difficult engineering feat of transporting the huge monolith to New York was undertaken by Lieutenant-Commander H. H. Gorringe, U. S. N. The Obelisk arrived in New York July 21, 1880, and the work of erection was completed February 22, 1881.

Museum of Natural History.—Nearly opposite the Museum of Art and the Obelisk, on the other side, and just outside the park proper, stands the fine fire-proof structure of the Museum of Natural History. The grounds occupy Manhattan Square, between Eighth and Ninth avenues, and from 77th to 81st streets. The present building, like the Art Museum, is but a single wing of the structure as designed. The corner-stone was laid by President Grant on June 2, 1874. Among the most interesting objects are the Verreaux natural history collection, the Eliot collection (North American birds), and the entire museum of Prince Maximilian of Newwied. The Museum is open to the public without a charge on Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Statues in the Park.—In addition to the works of art already mentioned, there are many other busts and statues of distinguished authors, statesmen and heroes, and several fanciful pieces of statuary. In the Mall, besides Ward's Shakespeare, places of honor have been given to a bronze statue of Burns, modeled by John Steele; a fine statue of Scott, by the same artist, in a sitting posture; and a similar representation of Fitz-Greene Halleck, by Wilson MacDonald. A life-size statue of Prof. S. F. B. Morse, at the 72d street entrance; a bust of Mazzini, on the West Drive; the heroic bronze statue of Daniel Webster, modeled by Ball, also on the West Drive; the Seventh Regiment

Memorial statue, representing a private in full uniform—one of the very best works of its sculptor, Mr. J. Q. A. Ward; a bust of Thomas Moore; and The Crouching Tiger, designed by Kemyss, are chief among attractions of this kind. The latest statue erected (1884) is that of San Bolivar, presented to the city by the President of Venezuela.

OTHER PARKS.

Besides Central Park, New York has a number of smaller parks or squares. The Battery, at the foot of Broadway, is the oldest and most famous. Bowling Green is close to it, and is also another relic of revolutionary times. City Hall Park and Union and Madison Squares have each been described under the head of "Broadway." Washington Square is bounded by Waverley place, Macdougall, Fourth, and Wooster streets, and is ornamented with trees, lawns, and a fountain. Tompkins Square is between Avenues A and B, joining Tenth and Seventh streets. Stuyvesant Square was formerly a part of the old Peter Stuyvesant farm, and was a gift to the city. It is bounded by Rutherford and Stuyvesant places, and E. 15th and E. 17th streets, while Second avenue runs through it from north to south. Gramercy Park is a private park between Third and Fourth avenues and E. 20th and E. 21st streets. Bryant Park is on Sixth avenue, and is described under that avenue. Besides these are Hamilton Square, situated between Third and Fourth avenues, near 66th and 67th streets; Manhattan Square, on the same avenues, between W. 77th and 81st streets. Mount Morris Square, in Harlem, is one of the most attractive and picturesque of the smaller squares; it is between 120th and 124th streets, on Fifth avenue. Morningside Park, at the north-west corner of Central Park, has 32 acres, and extends to 123d street. It is as yet little improved. Riverside Park is the strip of land west of the Boulevard, by the side of the Hudson, from 72d street to 130th street, about 3 miles in length. The drive is one of the most delightful about the city.

EXCURSIONS ROUND ABOUT.

The vicinity of New York presents attractions in every direction, and in the greatest variety. Not only are the two large cities of Brooklyn and Jersey City within easy reach, but by the sea-shore along the two rivers, and in the country beyond, are many places worth visiting. All the most popular places of resort are connected with the city by boat or rail, and the excursions thus offered are both cheap and plentiful. The first, and perhaps the best, are by the sea-shore. Long Branch, the fashionable sea-side resort, is within easy reach by boat or rail from Jersey City. By boat the visitor lands at Sandy Hook, and affording views of the Highlands of New Jersey, a short rail ride by the beach. Coney Island and Rockaway beaches are nearer, and are both reached by boats or rail, and each presents good surf bathing and all the usual delights of a very democratic watering-place. No finer trip for an afternoon can be found than to take the Iron Steamboat line (Pier 1, Battery,) to the Iron Pier at Coney Island, and thence wander along the shore, taking stages or marine railway, if desired, to Brighton Beach, Manhattan Beach, and the Oriental, taking the steamboat for return in the evening. Starin's Glen Island, to be reached by boats from foot of Cortland street, is also a most pleasant and popular resort. The rates, routes, and starting places of many excursion boats will be found elsewhere. Staten Island, still nearer the city, may be reached by boat in half an hour. Boats touching at places on the east side of the Island, take one quite near the Narrows, and within easy walking of the forts and heights. Boats for the north side of the island go through the long inlet known as the Kills, and passing a number of pretty villages, enter Raritan Bay, affording some charming views of the Jersey shore and Orange Mountains. Another line of boats run farther on, to Perth Amboy, and making a still more extended excursion. Other excursions may be made to Flushing, Jamaica, Babylon, and other points on Long Island, by rail and ferry. Boat excursions may be made on both the East and North River. Boats to Harlem leave every half hour from down-town piers, and passing up East River, skirt the eastern side of the city, pass Blackwell's, Ward's and Randall's Islands, each with their public and charitable institutions, and entering Harlem River, stop near the Third avenue Bridge. Here other boats may be taken for High Bridge. This famous place of resort is noted for its great stone bridge carrying the Croton-water pipes over the deep valley, and its picturesque scenery. High Bridge may also be reached by the Ninth Avenue Elevated Railroad, and by rail from the Grand Central Depot. From High Bridge the cars may be taken up the Harlem River valley to Spuyten Duyvil, on the Hudson. The ride from this point down the river to 34th street gives a fine view of the Hudson and the Palisades, and passes the villages of Mount Washington, Carmansville, and Manhattanville, and the west side of the city, of which they form a part. Boats on the

CITY OF NEW YORK.

CITY OF NEW YORK.

Hudson give excursions of varying length, from the little half-hour trip to Fort Lee to the all-day trip to Albany. Yonkers, Tarrytown, and West Point may all be visited by boat or rail within ten hours. No more romantic and beautiful river scenery can be found in this country than on the Hudson, and the visitor should go up as far as West Point, even if he neglects everything else. The Hudson is New York's great natural show-piece, and if one is visited the other should be. Even in winter there is much to see from the car window, as the railroad clings to the shore the entire distance.

THE CEMETERIES.

There are eight great cemeteries near New York, and each is finely laid out and profusely ornamented with monuments. Greenwood, nearly a mile square, is located on Gowanus Heights, Brooklyn, and is easily reached by horse cars from South Ferry or Hamilton Ferry. It is 4 miles from Fulton Ferry and $2\frac{1}{2}$ from Hamilton Ferry. The Cemetery of the Evergreens is also in Brooklyn, and may be reached by horse cars from Grand, Wall, Fulton, and Roosevelt street Ferries. Cypress Hills is just beyond the Evergreens, and is reached by cars from Fulton, South and Williamsburg Ferries. Woodlawn is near Fordham, on the line of the Harlem Railroad, and is reached by that line. New York Bay Cemetery is on the west shore of the Bay, two miles and a half beyond Jersey City. It may be reached by the Central N. J. R. R. (foot of Liberty street), or by Grand street and Ocean River horse cars, from Jersey City. Calvary Cemetery is at Newtown, L. I., and may be easily reached from the 10th street Ferry. It is the chief Roman Catholic cemetery of the city. Trinity Church Cemetery is located between 153d and 154th streets. To reach it, cars on the Hudson River Railroad, for Carmansville station, from 34th street station, or by the Boulevard omnibuses. Mount Olivet Cemetery is at Maspeth, L. I., some three miles and a half from Grand and Houston street Ferries. In addition to these are a number of minor cemeteries of less importance. Below is a list of all important cemeteries:

Every licensed owner or driver of any hackney coach, carriage or cab, when with his coach, carriage, or cab on any public stand, or at any of the steamboat landings or railroad depots, shall wear conspicuously on his left breast a badge in the form of a shield, of a size sufficient to admit the number of the coach to be engraved thereon in plain black figures, with the word "Licensed" above and the word "Hack" beneath such number, in semi-circular form.

Every driver of any carriage or cab shall present to every passenger employing him a card, on which shall be legibly printed the number of his license, and also the name and stable of the owner, and the number of the carriage or cab driven by him, together with the place of the Mayor's office.

In case of any violation of the law, or overcharge, passengers will report the number of the carriage at the Mayor's office (City Hall) for advice or redress.

4. In all cases where the hiring of a hackney coach or carriage is not at the time thereof specified to be by the day or hour, it shall be deemed to be by the mile.

5. For children between 2 and 14 years of age, half price; and for children under 2 years, no charge is to be made.

6. Whenever a hackney coach or carriage shall be detained, excepting as aforesaid, the owner or driver shall be allowed after the rate of 75 cents an hour.

HIGH ROCK SPRING CO.

GENTLEMEN:—After suffering for years with headache and the complexity of disorders attending and occasioning it, and having received the best medical attention that could be procured, without any relief, I was advised to use Mineral Water.

I tried Imported Waters; also the famous "Congress" and "Hathorn" waters of Saratoga, N. Y., but the pure, sparkling "High Rock" has been to me a fountain of life. With intense gratitude do I acknowledge its benefits to myself and family, with the wish that all sufferers might imbibe from your living fountain. Thanks to the perfection of your bottling system which gives it to the distant public without diminishing or destroying any of its medical properties.

I beg to add that the High Rock Water surpasses all other remedies that have been applied.

Gentlemen, I do so appreciate the superiority of your Spring, that I wish the Press (the power that moves the world) might herald its worth to all suffering humanity.

Yours truly,

J. L. GRAVES.

To mail subscribers the cost of THE DAILY TRIBUNE is about 2 cents a copy. It is sent postage paid, and gives the most in quantity and value, for the least money, of any paper in America. It is mailed from New York on the early fast mail trains, and can be delivered almost everywhere east of the Alleghanies on the day of issue. At many summer resorts it is delivered in advance of the New York papers by special express.

Heartily Republican in its politics, THE TRIBUNE will give the Republican nominees a loyal and vigorous support. Events have combined to make THE TRIBUNE more than ever the leading paper of the Republican party. THE TRIBUNE has a special wire of its own to Washington, and receives a large variety of special telegrams from all the principal cities of the country, forwarded by its own correspondents. Its full and accurate reports of speeches, campaign movements, and political intelligence generally, will make it indispensable to politicians and public-spirited citizens during the whole of the campaign.

Readers at summer resorts can have address changed as often as necessary.

PORTRAITS OF BLAINE AND LOGAN.

THE TRIBUNE has arranged for the publication of excellent lithographic portraits of Mr. Blaine and General Logan in a style suitable for any library or parlor. The picture of Mr. Blaine has been submitted to his family and receives their unqualified approval. It is the best likeness of the Republican candidate for President published. The portrait of General Logan is of similar excellence. The portraits are printed on heavy paper, 19 by 24½ inches in size. Either one will be sent to any subscriber or agent of THE TRIBUNE who, with his order, remits the sum of 20 cents. Both will be sent for 35 cents.

Artesian Lithia Spring Water.

It is the best, and contains greater medicinal properties than any other water known. To prevent imposition the corks are marked thus:

ARTESIAN SPRING
CO.,
BALLSTON, N. Y.

The waters of this Spring are unsurpassed in mineral richness, and contain double the amount per gallon of mineral matter of any other known water that is used as a medicinal agent. It is a mild cathartic, an active diuretic, is quick in its action, a fine tonic and extremely pleasant to the taste. Its medical properties partake of the most celebrated Springs of the world, and in fact combine the ingredients of all the principal ones in Europe and America. It is very strongly impregnated with that valuable Mineral Lithia, which is so effectual in dissolving the Chalk, or Limestone and Urate, deposits in RHEUMATISM, GOUT and GRAVEL, and has been successfully used by hundreds in these diseases with quick and telling effect, as also in KIDNEY DISEASES, LIVER COMPLAINT, DYSPEPSIA, BILIOUSNESS, ACIDITY OF THE STOMACH, CONSTIPATION and PILES, and has proved itself a panacea for these difficulties.

Persons using the water must be the judge as to the quantity they require. One glass is usually sufficient at one time, still in some cases one-half of a glass and in others two may be taken with good results.

The water is carefully bottled and packed in boxes of four dozen pints at the Spring, suitable for shipment to any part of the world, and will PRESERVE its MEDICAL VALUE for years. Its curative properties are as effective thousands of miles away, as at the Spring.

THE SARATOGA GEYSER

NATURAL MINERAL WATER.

CATHARTIC, ALTERATIVE and DIURETIC.

A high authority says: "The Geyser Spring Water is the best adapted for Liver and Kidney Diseases, and is applicable to a greater number of persons than any Spring at Saratoga."

For Dyspepsia this water is unrivaled. It contains more Soda and Magnesia combined (220,575 grains) than any other Saratoga Spring water.

It is the only Saratoga water bottled without loss of its Natural Carbonic Acid Gas, and that drinks from the bottle as fresh as at the Spring.

TESTIMONIALS.

Hon. JOHN M. SHIRLEY,

Andover, N. H.

"I have used the Geyser for years. It is invaluable for those of sedentary pursuits and especially overworked professional men. It relieves from indigestion, quiets the nerves and gives sweet sleep as nothing else can."

Rev. THEO. L. CUYLER, D.D.,

Brooklyn, N. Y.

"No water keeps its virtue in a bottle better than Geyser."

K. HAYS, Esq.,

Cleveland, O.

"Have been using the justly celebrated Geyser Spring water for the last twelve years and would not be without it at any price. After having tried all, I consider it the best universal mineral water in this country or Europe."

By the late DR. W. H. VAN BUREN,

New York City.

"I find the Geyser water to be the best water in the United States for people using a milk diet, and the only water that will mix with milk like the German waters. I consider it the best of the Saratoga waters as a remedy for indigestion."

Rev. HOWARD B. GROSE.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y.

"Twice when ill through overwork and bilious troubles combined, I have given Geyser water test as a remedy, and with such satisfactory results as lead me most heartily to commend it. Not only is it the most sparkling of the mineral waters, but its action on the liver and kidneys is prompt and remarkable. As a table beverage it is a source of health and a preventive of disease; as a remedy its value will attest itself I am convinced wherever it is fairly tried."

A. D. NICKERSON, Esq.,

Providence, R. I.

"Next to being in Saratoga is the luxury of having at all times a case of Geyser water in the cellar. There may be other mineral waters as good, but I think none can be better."

Very Rev. FRA LEO, O. S. F.,

Franciscan Monastery, Winsted, Conn.

"The Geyser Spring water, has for several years, proved of great benefit to me."

This is the verdict of those who have seen, tested and used it. The constantly increasing demand from all parts of the country for our Organs is unmistakable proof of their superiority. This liberal patronage has not been brought about by excessive advertising, not by promises to give two dollars' worth for one dollar, not by exaggerating the merits of our organs and decrying the merits of others, but by the making, from top to bottom, a No. 1 organ, and by selling at the lowest prices at which such excellence could be sold. Write for circulars and prices.

The Genuine EXCELSIOR WATER is sold on Draught only through the

and be sure you get the "EXCELSIOR" drawn through the Trade Mark as shown in the annexed sketch. Avoid Artificial and Recharged Waters.

The "Excelsior" Water is unequalled as a cathartic and diuretic, and is used with great success in treating diseases of the Liver and Kidneys. See below letters from two of our best known medical men.

From Fordyce Barker, M. D., of New York.

I make great use of the various mineral waters in my practice, and I regard the "Excelsior" Spring Water of Saratoga as the best saline and alkaline laxative of this class. Sparkling with Carbonic Acid Gas, it is to most persons very agreeable to the taste, and prompt in action as a gentle Diuretic and Cathartic.

FORDYCE BARKER, M. D.

From Alfred L. Loomis, M. D., of New York.

During my whole professional life I have been accustomed to use freely the Water of Congress and Empire Springs. About six months since, accidentally, I was furnished with a few bottles of the "Excelsior" Spring Water, and found it so much more agreeable to the taste and pleasant in its effects than either Congress or Empire Water, that I have since used it myself, and recommend it to patients requiring a gentle Cathartic and Diuretic.

A. L. LOOMIS, M. D.

THE BOTTLED "EXCELSIOR" WATER is unexcelled, and retains all its properties unimpaired for years.

ELY BROTHERS, Druggists, Owego, N. Y.

CATARRH.

For fifteen years I have been greatly annoyed with Catarrh, which caused severe pain in my head, continual discharges into my throat and unpleasant breath. My sense of smell was much impaired. By a thorough use for six months of Ely's Cream Balm I have entirely overcome these troubles.

J. B. CASE, St. Denis Hotel, Broadway and 11th St., N. Y.

I have suffered from acute inflammation in my nose and head. My eye has been for a week at a time, so I could not see. I have used no end of remedies, also employed a doctor, who said it was impure blood—but I got no help. I used Ely's Cream Balm on the recommendation of a friend. I was faithless, but in a few days was cured. My nose, now, and also my eye, is well. It is wonderful how quick it helped me.

MRS. GEORGIE S. JUDSON, Hartford, Conn.

HAY FEVER.

"MESSRS. ELY BROS., Druggists, Owego, N. Y.: I have been afflicted for twenty years, during the months of August and September, with Hay Fever, and have tried various remedies for its relief without success. I was induced to try your Cream Balm; have used it with favorable results, and can confidently recommend it to all similarly afflicted."

ROBERT W. TOWNLEY.

(Ex-Mayor) Elizabeth, N. J., Sept. 27, 1879.

CATARRH AND HAY FEVER.—For twenty years I was a sufferer from Catarrh of the head and throat, in a very aggravated form, and during the summer with Hay Fever. I procured a bottle of Ely's Cream Balm, and after a few applications received decided benefit—was cured by one bottle. Have had no return of the complaint.

CHARLOTTE PARKER, Waverly, N. Y.

"Of the many Catarrh and Hay Fever remedies we keep in stock, there is none that has increased so rapidly in sales or given such universal satisfaction as Ely's Cream Balm."

C. N. CRITTENTON, 115 Fulton St., New York.

"MESSRS. WHITE & BURDICK, Druggists, Ithaca, N. Y.: I recommend to those suffering (as I have been) with Hay Fever, Ely's Cream Balm. Have tried nearly all the remedies I could find, and give this a decided preference over them all. It has given me immediate relief."

of this Company provides perfect protection, as the policy grants insurance throughout life, which insurance may be terminated at the option of the insured, and a sum realized for himself, as provided in the policy by the largest cash surrender values ever offered in a Life Insurance contract. The cash value may be drawn at the end of the specified term of years, or any period of five years thereafter, thus furnishing endowment insurance at life rates.

PROTECTION AND INVESTMENT.

A policy under the Connecticut Mutual's new contract is the perfection of life insurance—protection for your families if you die, and a solid investment if you live.

Its excellence will be appreciated when it is compared with anything else in life insurance.

(Calling at MARANHAM to land and receive Passengers and Mails only.)

To parties desiring an ocean voyage, this route offers unusual attractions. After crossing the Gulf Stream, which takes but a few hours, there are no such rough passages as are experienced on the North Atlantic. A fine sail all the way is the rule.

Outward passages, via ports of call—about 5,500 miles—will be made in about	26 days
Homeward	25 days
Outward passages, direct from New York to Rio de Janeiro, in about	20 days
Homeward “ “ Rio de Janeiro to New York, “ “ “	18 days

THE PASSAGE RATES

Are so low that it costs but little more for a passage to Rio than it does to spend the same number of days at a good Hotel.

Passengers for Cuba can go or return on this Line via St. Thomas.

Passengers for Montevideo or Buenos Ayres are advised to take tickets to Rio de Janeiro, and there select the day and steamer they wish to sail on.

The new and elegant steamers of this line are 317 feet long, 38 1-3 feet beam, 31 1-2 feet depth from upper deck, have been built in the most careful manner, are unusually staunch, have water-tight compartments, powerful engines, fine model, experienced surgeons and superior passenger accommodations.

CONGRESS SPRING.

THE STANDARD MINERAL WATER.

CATHARTIC, ALTERATIVE. A Specific for disorders of the STOMACH, LIVER, and KIDNEYS, ECZEMA, MALARIA and all impurities of the BLOOD.

SO enviable a name has this famous Mineral Water, that the managers of inferior mineral springs, desirous of imitating the natural purity of the bottled water of Congress Spring, inject a powerful acid in their bottled water to preserve the crude ingredients in solution,—being so heavily laden with

LIME AND IRON DEPOSIT.

With such contrivances, bogus testimonial and doctored analysis cards they seek to rival the pure medicinal waters of Congress Spring.

THE regular season visitors to Saratoga fully understand these crude harsh waters, many of them after painful experiences. In proof of this fact we can produce a great many responsible names. But the Saratoga visitors without experience, and many who use the bottled waters (often labeled as curatives for disorders which they positively aggravate), should remember, that crude mineral waters produce headache, a sense of burning and internal irritation, and do irreparable injury to the digestive organs and kidneys.
